

Module 4: Management of IPC Programs

Session 3: Health Facility IPC Audit

IPC Audit

- Health care workers' compliance with infection control practices and principles is vital in preventing the spread of disease.
- One tool to assess infection control practice in clinical areas is the infection control audit;
- however, many institutions do not approach this in a systematic fashion